PA NEW OBSERVES

There are quite a few flying squirrels at Cascade Park, and each day, Ray Karna feeds a trio which skid down out of the trees on the midway for their daily feed of peanuts. The flying squirrel is an elusive creature and hard to tame, but this trio has grown accustomed to the presence of people and doesn't mind them, it seems.

Yesterday's ending of the heat wave came in peculiar fashion. The rain the night before did not cool off the atmosphere during the night, and indications during the early part of the morning pointed to the fact that the day was going to be hot as ever, but as the morning wore on, it did not get much warmer, and the temperature actually dropped between 10 o'clock and noon, in the morning.

Despite several announcements in The News, people still come, some from out of the city, to the sugar ration board on Pearson street for canning sugar. As the board has been out of certificates since last Thursday and no one knows when Washington will send more, there is no use trying to get canning sugar for without certificates, nothing can be done. There will be an announcement in The News when Washington comes through.

In many cities plans have been made whereby a "stagger" system of work is being put into effect to eliminate congestion on traffic routes at certain hours and divide the traffic up more evenly throughout the day. In New Castle a lot of bus riders could very easily arrange their trips during the day so that they would not need to be riding the buses at the most important traffic hours.

Royal Air Force Batters At Axis Lines In Egypt

By GEORGE LAIT
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

CAIRO, July 21.—A large-scale Royal Air Force attack on the Axis-held desert airport of Fuka, 45 miles east of Mersa Matruh, damaged at least 30 Italian planes caught on the ground, the British Middle East high command revealed today.

Other British bombers inflicted heavy damage on Axis tanks, aircraft and motor vehicles during a night attack in the battle area in the vicinity of El Alamein.

Land operations were confined to patrol activities because of dust storms.

The British, however, continued pressure against Axis units at the southern end of the 35-mile defense (Continued On Page Two)

Stay Off Streets During Blackout

You probably know this already, but for the benefit of the customers who just came in it should be repeated that folks should stay off the streets during the total blackout Wednesday night. That doesn't mean you have to jump down a manhole when the lights go out but it does mean you should seek shelter.

In the first practice blackout lights were dimmed out all night. As a result many people stayed at home all evening and during the time of the total blackout the streets were deserted. Wednesday night will be different. The blackout signal will hit you suddenly, without previous warning and for the next thirty minutes after the signal goes your home should be dark and you should be off the streets.

Four Girls Are Drowned In Pit

(International News Service)

The victims were Ruth Cleveland, 15, and Genevieve, 13, Pauline, 15, and Naomi McCoy, 18.

The four girls had been wading hand-in-hand when they apparently stepped off a deep "cut-off" in the pit. Their bodies were recovered about 15 feet from shore.

Early Opening Of Second Front Is Considered

By LEO V. DOLAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, July 21.—The plight of Russia, withstanding alone the onslaught of Hitler's powerful armies, has resulted in an increased number of conferences between American and British military and political leaders in London on the possibility of early opening of a second front in Europe, it was understood today.

Both the political and military aspects of a second front, which formed a large part of the recent discussions in Washington between Prime Minister Winston Churchill and President Roosevelt, have been under constant survey since Churchill's return to London. The idea of a second front has formed the subject of numerous interchanges of views between British and American leaders here and in Washington.

Reports that Churchill met again with British and American military experts in an important conference yesterday were not immediately confirmed in official circles but in line with the progress of recent discussions it was thought highly probable that such a meeting had taken place. Many such meetings have been and will continue to be held while the second front question remains paramount.

Boston bombers smashed again at the Mazingarbe power station which was a target Sunday afternoon.

New Details Of Sabotage Plans In U. S.

More Facts Become Known
As Trial Of Eight Saboteurs Nears End

ONE SABOTEUR MOST TALKATIVE

By JACK VINCENT
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 21.—New and startling details of the German plot to sabotage America's war effort became known today as the trial of the eight Nazi saboteurs involved in the unsuccessful scheme neared a whirlwind end with the defense using every legal weapon possible in an effort to save the spies from death.

While sources close to the military commission conducting the secret trial predicted that the hearing may end late today or tomorrow, these new details, admitted by the saboteurs in confessions they voluntarily signed, showed:

Dasch Did Talking
That George John Dasch, who was picked up by the German high command as the leader of the saboteurs, apparently did the most talking when he was caught.

The spies said that the sabotage school they attended near Berlin started on April 1 and their courses in murder and mass destruction lasted four weeks.

Two of the saboteurs, Ernest Peter Burger, a naturalized American citizen, and Werner Thiel, were actually members of the German army.

Thiel, after landing on Long Island shores from a German submarine, registered at a large New York hotel.

Alaskan Says 20,000 Japs Are In Aleutians

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Anthony J. Dimond, Alaskan delegate to congress, today said that he had received reports indicating that between 20,000 and 25,000 Japanese soldiers, sailors and marines comprise the task force occupying the Aleutian Islands of Attu, Agattu, and Kiska.

Taking this as indicating that the Japanese activities in the Alaskan theatre are of major proportions rather than an effort at diversion, Dimond urged that immediate steps be taken to oust the invaders.

"A grievous mistake is being made in not driving the Japanese out now," Dimond said. "If we have not enough power to drive them out now, how can we expect to drive them out when they get established."

UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, July 21.—The recent fall in activity in the Southwest Pacific ended with a Japanese bombing attack on Port Moresby, a United Nations headquarters communiqué revealed today. Boguchar is 140 miles south of Voronezh.

Such an advance would bring the German spearhead to within 120 miles northwest of the industrial city of Stalingrad on the Volga.

German Supply Ships Are Routed

British Coastal Craft Hammer
Nazi Ships In English Channel

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

LONDON, July 21.—A powerful German force of armoured trawlers, supply ships and anti-aircraft vessels was routed by British coastal craft in the English channel today.

An admiralty communiqué disclosing the action admitted the loss of one British gunboat.

But a larger number of Nazi ships were damaged and the fleet put to flight.

A communiqué said:
"A small patrol of our light coastal craft this morning off Cape Gris-Nez (France) made contact with strong enemy forces of armoured trawlers and powerfully armed anti-aircraft ships covering the passage of a supply ship creeping up the channel close to the enemy's coast. The British attacked and a somewhat confused action followed. One enemy trawler was set heavily on fire and other enemy ships, including the supply ship, sustained a large number of hits."

"The enemy turned back to the west and sought shelter in harbor. One of our motor gunboats was set heavily afire and must be considered lost. The remainder safely returned to base."

Russians Launch Counter Drive

While farther south the Germans still press their drives toward Rostov and Stalingrad, the Russians have wrested the initiative from the Nazis on the Voronezh sector, driving the enemy from the east bank of the Don river. Arrows on the above Central Press map indicate lines of attack of the Russians and Germans.

Seek "Perfect Score" In Blackout Test In State Wednesday

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, July 21.—Defense authorities were marshalling all of their resources today in hope of achieving a "perfect score" in tomorrow night's total half-hour long blackout of all of Pennsylvania, excepting four counties affected by a flood Saturday.

Starting time of the practice blackout and air raid drill will not be announced publicly until sirens sound. Householders and business men alike were urged to take measures necessary to participate in the test.

Authorities requested that all persons who are going to be away from home or whose places of business will be closed should extinguish all lights before leaving unless they leave someone behind to do it.

When sirens sound all external lights must go off except those for railroads, airfield beacons and obstruction lights, radio tower lights and navigation lights. All internal lights must go off except those that are completely obscured in homes (Continued On Page Two)

Soviet Troops Making Gains In Voronezh Sector

Recross Don River To Retake Strong Enemy Position Moscow Reports

RED TROOPS MAKE BREAKTHROUGH

Nazis Seem To Be Aiming
At Likhova In Huge
Drive Toward Rostov

By JAMES E. BROWN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, July 21.—Hard-fighting Soviet troops at Voronezh, northern anchor of the Don River line, have recrossed the Don to retake the enemy's most important position on the west bank and cut off the main German supply line, military information said today.

A considerable number of enemy troops, still on the east bank, are in danger of isolation and annihilation, it was announced.

The Army newspaper Red Star said:

"Our units now are in the rear of the Germans."

"The enemy has realized the situation and is trying to counter-attack."

First Major Red Success

Should the Soviets succeed in holding the enemy where they have him now, it will be the first major Russian success since the Germans began their all-out offensive several weeks ago.

The Germans are being held in a five-mile strip of land between the Don and Voronezh rivers and have no alternative except to try and fight their way out.

The breakthrough was accomplished yesterday and since that time the Russians have poured forces through the gap until now they hold the position in great strength.

The high command said fierce fighting continued all around Voronezh where the Nazis have been forced on the defensive by large-scale Soviet counter-attacks which have deprived the Germans of several bridgeheads along the Don River.

Terrific Battles

Terrific battles also were in progress in the area southeast of Voroshilovgrad at the lower end of the 250-mile front.

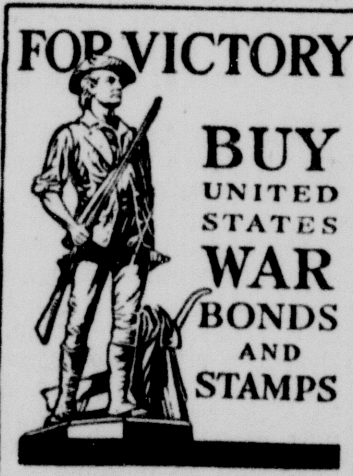

Two major struggles were being fought one for the vital rail junction of Voronezh and the other for Likhova to the south.

The initiative remained with the Soviets in the Voronezh area but Marshal Semyon Timoshenko's forces dropped back still farther on the southern front from where the Germans advanced steadily toward the Caucasus.

The red army, military officials revealed, withdrew to new positions southeast of Voroshilovgrad. 100 (Continued On Page Two)

It costs you a buck 'no dead-ends tonight' not even for newspaper writers, for every one pays to get into the scrap, the referees and the fighters. Cleaning Up After Flash Floods

Report 10,000 Are Being Cared For

Red Cross Looks After Victims Of Five-County Flood Near Bradford

DEATH TOLL OF FLOODS REACHES 11

(International News Service)

BRADFORD, Pa., July 21.—The Red Cross reported it was taking care of 10,000 persons today as residents of a five-county area in northern Pennsylvania and southern New York began cleaning up the debris from week end flash floods that cost at least 11 lives and millions of dollars worth of property.

The relief agency also reported that the death toll may be expanded when complete communication is resumed with isolated communities. Supplementing this was an unconfirmed report that three persons were drowned in Emporium, Cameron county.

As the creeks and rivers receded to their banks, utility repair crews restored power, telephone and gas service to the stricken communities in Cameron, Elk, Potter and McKean counties in Pennsylvania and Cattaraugus county in New York state. Telephone service to some isolated sections was still limited to emergency lines.

Take Care Of 10,000

William Carl Hunt, Red Cross eastern area manager, said that experienced disaster workers were feeding, housing and providing medical attention for the homeless 10,000 persons. Field representatives reported, he said, three dead and 400 families homeless in Coudersport; five dead and 350 homeless in Port Allegany, one of the hardest hit sections; two dead and one seriously injured in Emporium, and 500 families homeless; and in Johnsonburg, where one person was killed and 150 families affected, the Red Cross evacuated one section of the city when chlorine gas began to escape from the town's flooded paper mill.

Hunt said the Red Cross established an emergency center in the Presbyterian church in Port Allegany, where three doctors and eight nurses sent in by the Bradford chapter were immunizing the homeless against typhoid. Food and clothing were sent in by truck and boat.

Three more deaths were reported in Olean, N. Y., with 2,000 persons driven from their homes there by the raging waters.

The creeks and rivers in the five-county area rushed over banks Sunday, washing away earthen dams, lowland homes and inundating innumerable business districts. Incessant rains preceded the Sunday flash floods, which caught many residents napping.

NEW DETAILS OF SABOTAGE PLANS IN U. S.

one of the saboteurs, and his wife, Maria, worked as servants in homes of socially prominent people at Greenwich, Conn., and Short Hills, N. J.—Kerling all the while wearing a swastika pin under a lapel of his coat.

Herbert Haupt, 22, the youngest of the saboteurs, was in constant touch with German authorities in Mexico City in 1941 when he stopped there on his trip back to Germany.

The German government, through its consulates, paid for the transportation of most of the spies back to Germany before they were sent to America in submarines.

These details were learned as the defense started presentation of its case. The prosecution rested yesterday, leading army authorities to tighten the guard over the saboteurs because of the fact that the eight spies knew that the time when they would face the gallows or firing squad may be drawing inexorably near.

When newspapermen saw the prisoners a week ago Saturday they were seated in chairs along the left wall of the courtroom. There were soldiers at both ends and one soldier seated midway between them. Now fearing the saboteurs may attempt a courtroom demonstration, a soldier has been placed between every saboteur.

Dasch, leader of the four spies who landed at Amagansett, L. I., and selected as the "fuehrer" of all eight of the saboteurs in this country, was being guarded most closely. It was reported, to prevent any move by the other seven to kill him.

According to reliable information, he did most talking when it came to the showdown. He talked so much, it was understood, that it took the prosecution two full days to read his confession into the evidence.

ALEXANDRIA, July 21.—Units of the British Mediterranean fleet yesterday again shelled the Axis-held port of Mersa Matruh in Libya, it was officially announced today.

All Traffic To Stop
All traffic will stop, the vehicles will pull to the curb and extinguish lights. The only traffic permitted to move will be emergency vehicles, ordered to do so by the commander of the civilian defense control center or directly authorized by the councils of defense.

No one will be permitted on the streets except members of the citizens' defense corps and civilian defense auxiliary group who have received cards of authorization. Sealed instructions setting the starting time of the blackout have been sent to county councils.

Exemptions from the blackout have been granted Elk, McKean, Potter and Cameron counties because of flood conditions.

Officials were also pushing plans for a simultaneous surprise blackout of all of New Jersey and Pennsylvania next month, affecting at least 14,000,000 persons and embracing an area of 53,169 square miles.

New York has been invited by New Jersey defense leaders to participate in the surprise drill, but civilian protection officials of the Empire State said they doubted that New York would join in such a test.

Leonard Dreyfuss, New Jersey state director of civilian defense, declared that both he and Dr. A. C. Marts, director of the Pennsylvania Council of Defense, desired to cooperate "as fully as possible."

6,000 Axis Prisoners
Latest summaries of the past 10 days of fighting in the searing desert disclosed that a total of 6,000 Germans and Italians had been taken prisoner. The British Middle East high command announced yesterday that at least 4,000 Axis troops had been captured since July 14.

The movement of the Axis forces to the north may be an intentional withdrawal by Rommel to concentrate his fighters in the central sector for a new attempt to pierce the British defenses but it was pointed out that the Germans and Italians were assisted along the way by the offensive action of British mobile columns.

kids may be arguing. Watch the street lights near your home. They will probably be the first lights to go off. When the street lights go off your lights should go also.

It isn't necessary to turn the lights off in your home if you have made blackout preparations. Blackout curtains for the windows that trap all light will let you pursue the normal course of your life inside while the blackout is on.

Have a flashlight handy but keep it pointed down while you operate it. If you are driving when the blackout signal goes, pull your car over to the curb or roadside, get out and seek shelter. This applies to every person driving a car unless the driver has a special permit to drive and has an "E" on the front and back of his car.

The fact that you may be changing turns does not permit you to drive during the half hour blackout. The fact that you are on your way to see a fellow about a horse hasn't anything to do with it. When the signal goes, pull over and blackout. Otherwise you'll have an argument with the warden and for thirty minutes he has the better of the argument.

Don't Light Matches
If you are walking on the street and the blackout signal comes, seek shelter immediately. If a door way is the nearest thing, get into the doorway and don't light matches, or cigarette lighters. In short, act as you would if a genuine air raid were going on. It is difficult to imagine it, but try it anyway.

Don't use the telephone except for emergency call calls. If emergency does arise in your home and an ambulance should be needed, call the Control Center and the control officer will send an authorized vehicle to your home.

The first practice blackout was almost a 100 per cent success in this city and county. The one Wednesday night will be a little more difficult, which means that all of us will have to exercise a little more care. It can be made even more successful than the first one.

Air Craft Warning Service volunteers who are actually enroute to their listening posts will be permitted to proceed during the blackout Wednesday night, providing they have proper credentials which are issued by the United States Army. Lt. Col. W. Fulton Jackson declared today.

These identification cards bear the U. S. Army insignia, the picture of the owner, a description of him and his finger prints. Auxiliary police officers to pass them if they are on their way to their listening posts. No authority has been received to issue them auto stickers, Col. Jackson said.

lines in an apparent attempt to roll the Germans and Italians back and shorten the front.

Lull Over Most Of Front
Although there was a lull over most of the front stretching south from British positions west of El Alamein, due to terrific dust storms which precluded any major fighting, dispatches said that Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck's forces in the south had pushed the Axis mechanized columns back to a position 10 miles north of the salt marshes of the Qattara Depression.

Fighting occurred when units of the British Imperial eighth army made contact with Nazi General Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's forces in two places in the southern sector. The Axis troops appeared, to be only rear guard units covering a withdrawal toward the central sector.

6,000 Axis Prisoners
Latest summaries of the past 10 days of fighting in the searing desert disclosed that a total of 6,000 Germans and Italians had been taken prisoner. The British Middle East high command announced yesterday that at least 4,000 Axis troops had been captured since July 14.

The movement of the Axis forces to the north may be an intentional withdrawal by Rommel to concentrate his fighters in the central sector for a new attempt to pierce the British defenses but it was pointed out that the Germans and Italians were assisted along the way by the offensive action of British mobile columns.

Precinct Leader Issues Notice
Air raid wardens of the Ninth precinct of the Second ward have been instructed to report at 8 p. m. Wednesday at 124 Fairfield avenue where they will receive their air raid warden insignia, or arm bands.

SOVIET TROOPS MAKING GAINS IN VORONEZH SECTOR

miles northwest of Rostov, in the face of strong German attacks employing large tank formations.

Evacuation of Voronezh, industrial city on the Donetz river, was announced yesterday by the high command which said Soviet troops had been ordered to leave the city to avoid being cut off by armies of General Field Marshal Fedor von Bock pressing southward from Millerovo on the Moscow-Rostov railway.

Attack Germans
Besides cutting off a large enemy body on the Voronezh front, the red army continued to attack the Germans at the southern approaches to the city.

One unit didn't even wait for the erection of a pontoon bridge across the stream but swam across, holding their rifles high, under a withering rain of fire.

An important battle now is taking place on the eastern bank of the Don, south of Voronezh. An enemy division is trying to hold this point at any cost but the Soviets already have annihilated two regiments of German infantry.

It is at this point that the Germans have concentrated large motorized forces, possibly intending to by-pass Voronezh and drive south along the western bank of the river.

Likhoza Objective
Von Bock's immediate objective appeared to be Likhoza, 70 miles north and slightly east of Rostov, where the main north-south railway connects with a line leading to the great industrial city of Stalingrad on the Volga river 243 miles to the east.

The Vichy news agency, according to Reuters, carried an unconfirmed report stating that German and Rumanian troops already were fighting bitterly in an attempt to pierce the system of fortifications around Rostov, gateway to the oil-rich Caucasus. There was no substantiation from any other source, including Berlin itself, that Axis forces were in the proximity of Rostov.

(At one point, the Vichy report said, the Germans and Rumanians were within four miles of the city's suburbs. The agency dispatch said that German troops advancing down the Don had arrived at a point six miles from Novocheerkassk, 28 miles northeast of Rostov, and that street fighting was in progress at Kamensk.)

Cities Not Menaced
The fact that Soviet communiques as yet have failed to mention either Likhoza or Kamenskaya, 10 miles to the north, indicates that the German southward drive from Millerovo still has not menaced these cities.

At Voronezh, where the Germans have been smashed back 10 miles to the east bank of the Don at some points and formed to retrace their steps westward across the river at other points, the Soviets pursued their advantages gained in fierce counter-offensives and gave the Germans no time to recoup their forces.

Despite the advances by Von Bock to the south the successes of the Russians in the north threatened his entire armies with disaster. Failure of the German campaign on the lower reaches of the Don would lay them open to destruction by the Soviets in the north.

"Our troops fought the enemy in the area of Voronezh and south-army high command said in a communique which failed to mention any activities south of Millerovo. Stating that there were no material changes on other sectors, the communique continued.

In the area of Voronezh our troops continue to deal blows against the German Panzer troops. Our troops have occupied several Don crossings.

The high command reported that strong Soviet air forces, including Stornovik bombers and American-built fighters and bombers, were giving strong support to Russian ground forces around Voronezh. The Nazis have reverted entirely to defensive tactics in this area, the high command said.

That the Germans are putting up a stubborn defense was admitted, and it was said that the Nazis were hastily building fortifications in an attempt to hold their positions.

The two most remarkable human traits are man's ignoble, craven, greedy badness and his noble, courageous, unselfish goodness.

BRERETON MOVES TO EGYPT

GENERAL BRERETON'S transfer from the presently quiet situation in India to the Egyptian area can be viewed with satisfaction. It indicates—or should—that American Air Forces battling Marshal Rommel are being expanded and organized on a large scale. Our air support for General Auchinleck must not be a case of sending a boy on a man's errand.

American Flying Fortresses and other planes in Egypt have been giving an excellent account of themselves in recent fighting. Presumably considerable new air reinforcements bearing the American insignia are streaming to the battlefield. It is hoped this is so because British maintenance of a certain degree of air superiority has had much to do with counteracting Rommel's advantage in mechanized elements in the struggle near El Alamein.

General Brereton commented, on assuming his new command, that the American air forces have to depend for servicing and repairs on the R. A. F. ground troops. This again strongly indicates that fairly large American air reinforcements have been flown to Egypt without waiting for their own ground personnel.

But it emphasizes the desirability, as urged by many experts, of rapidly expanding air transport and air freight facilities so that American fighters and bombers can be promptly and efficiently handled by their own ground crews, no matter where they are operating.

WISE RULING

A Connecticut probate court has added to the legal protection thrown about the process of child adoption. He decided that when the secretary of a well-known woman and her husband gave up their baby for adoption, the foster parents acquired substantially irrevocable rights.

This was a wise ruling. The law generally protects mothers who are under age, unmarried or acting under temporary stress, from losing their infants. But there is a growing line of decisions to assure childless couples that when they take a baby into their homes and hearts, they need not fear having their happier homes disrupted by a belated change of heart on the part of the natural parents.

Without such assurance the adoption system, which has given loving parents to thousands who otherwise would have grown up as waifs, would be badly handicapped.

CLOSING THE FINNISH CONSULATES

Steps by our government to close Finnish consulates in this country are ominously reminiscent of the preliminaries leading toward our break with Germany.

Difficulties growing between the United States and Finland are serious. Whether by choice or under compulsion, her ties with Hitler appear to be tightening. She pursues her war upon Russia and ignores warnings of Secretary Hull that the friendship of the United States cannot be indefinitely strained in this world-wide struggle for survival and human freedom.

It is possible Finland cannot break loose from her Nazi ally. If so she has given no slightest hint of that fact. To all intents Finland is a vigorous partner of Hitler today. The country is the obvious base for a vital attack on our supply lines to Russia; there is increasing suspicion, and there may be some grounds for it, that intensified Nazi onslaught by submarines and planes upon our convoys to Murmansk are in some degree launched from Finland.

No development of the war would cause greater regret in this country than a break with the brave and honest Finnish people. But in a life-and-death struggle we dare not run the risk, present and increasing, of an Axis attack on a large scale from Finnish bases—perhaps supported by Finnish troops.

Finland has won back from Russia virtually all she lost in her earlier war with the Soviets. Her people should decide, if her military leaders will not, that this is sufficient and that she should withdraw from a struggle which, continued further, can aid Hitler's brutal cause, but hardly the cause of Finland itself.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

INSIDE INFORMATION

Evidence is piling up to indicate that the German U-boat pack has made information as to the movements of shipping in American waters. Not long ago the skipper of a torpedoed freighter reported that the submarine commander showed great surprise upon being told the name of the ship he had attacked. Evidently he was expecting a different vessel in that vicinity.

Three more vessels were sunk recently. This time, when the captain of one of them gave the name, tonnage and nationality of his ship, the U-boat commander boastfully rattled off the vessel's port of embarkation and its destination. He knew the whole story.

Where are these tips coming from? Who relays ship movements to the submarine pack? An answer to these questions would go far toward solving the problem of coastal sinkings. But there is also another question. Is it true, as some Americans have suspected from the beginning, that the German U-boat pack has hidden bases on the Atlantic coast of America or in the Caribbean?

There are many bays and coves from Maine to Florida, from islands of the West Indies to the Mexican coast, where small ships might operate without detection, carrying fuel and food supplies to the submarine fleet.

American counter-espionage service and surface and air patrols have a real job on their hands. The FBI has succeeded in rounding up an assortment of Nazi saboteurs and some of their accomplices. It is equally important to apprehend the spies who give to the enemy information concerning ship movements and, if German submarines are fueled on this side of the Atlantic, to ferret out the hideaways and those who operate them.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

BLAMES PARENTS FOR STUBBORN CHILD

Stubborn children are not born, they are made. They have been trained in this fault by their parents who may have been trying to teach them never to be stubborn.

We parents wish our children to learn obedience, but in our efforts to attain these ends we may foster disobedience and stubbornness as well. As a rule, the temper tantrum is displayed when the offending child is forbidden what he wants. Stubbornness arises when we try to make him do what he does not want to do.

Use "Don't" or "Do" Stubbornness arises because the parent has not drawn the line between do and don't. Many writers have been telling parents never to say "don't," but to say "do." They should reverse the order; certainly with the child under three or four to do anything, tell him not to do certain things.

A command, to be worthy, carries force behind it. If you command the child of two to close the door and he doesn't, you are obliged to make him do it. But suppose he doesn't? You might beat this child to death without making him obey such a command. But a very small amount of pain would train him to be obedient.

If you want the little child of three to bring the comb to you, ask him kindly to do so. Make him want to help you and when he does show him your keen appreciation by a smile, word or gesture.

Don't Force Child If, instead, he does not accede, you have no occasion to attempt to force him, since you gave him no command. Merely drop the matter and before you make another similar request prepare yourself and him so that he will choose to cooperate next time.

Spend many minutes if necessary to induce the little child to come in happily from play, go happily to bathe, happily to bed. Every time you are successful in causing him to want to do as you suggest to him, you are making him more ready to choose to do what you want him to do.

If you have a stubborn child don't be so foolish as to think you can break his will. If you do break his will you may have much left in him worth cultivating.

By the time the average child is five or six we can expect him to obey some positive commands.

Solving Parent Problems Q. Why should my girl 7 years old (who has a brother of 5) often ask me if I love her as much as brother?

A. Because she suspects that you do not, and the more you try to explain the more doubtful she becomes. Show her more affection, praise her more when she is good, help her enjoy more successes, do more things with her and avoid comparing her with her brother.

No Hysteria In Enemy Spy Hunting
Saboteurs And Enemy Agents Sought
Methods Are Contrast To Last War

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Attorney General Francis Biddle is not after enemy saboteurs, spies and miscellaneous other agents in the United States but not a bit of hysteria characterizes his activities.

During the last war a lot of perfectly good American citizens, some of them of two or three generations standing in this country, were suspected by their neighbors at least because they'd inherited German names, and in certain cases knew the Teutonic lingo. They lost their jobs on account of pretty remote ancestries, and in various instances were chased out of neighborhoods they were as native to as the folk who lived next door to 'em. I knew one Oklahoma farmer who, for the misfortune of having had a German grandpa, was forced to migrate. Things were made so unpleasant for him, where did he go? Back to the Fatherland? Not so you could notice it. He became a cracking good member of the Yankee colony in the Argentine Republic, where there's a German element, with which he wouldn't associate, however. And as soon as the war was over, back to Oklahoma he streaked it, and is there yet.

Well, President Roosevelt will be recalled as having, early in the present conflict, deprecated similar unreasoning prejudices on our current part, and it's a policy that Attorney General Biddle's commendably adhering to.

Registration We've a law of recent enactment, requiring foreign governments' friends in our midst, to register accordingly with the state department.

One of 'em I know who has done so is Sir William Lewis, Washington correspondent of the London Times. Heaven knows he's not an enemy agent, but technically he's subject to that statute, so he abides by it.

Earlier in the game the Japs introduced into the National Press club, as one of its members, and as a member also of the Congressional Press Gallery, Matsuo Kato representing Nippon's big news agency, Domei. It seemed to me a shame to have Japan on the job with no Chinese spokesman in attendance, so I offered, to Ambassador Chen Ting Wang to sponsor a Chinese of his selection. He promptly specified his Second Secretary Yun-fang Lien. I got him in and gave him the best advice I could.

That incident's past. Ambassador Wang has been recalled. I don't know just why but I believe it's because he went financially broke. Brother Lien is working for the Red Cross in China, with his photograph still on my parlor wall. The point is that I'd have been a "foreign agent," subject to registration with the state department, as one of its American informants. If the whole affair hadn't preceded passage of the existing federal regulation.

And I'd have registered, of course. These pro-German operators of today, though, are in a different classification.

Anyway, I think they are. I don't believe for a minute that they include any dyed-in-the-wool Americans. I don't believe they include any local Italians. Indeed, my impression is that our Italian-Americans are as anti-Axis as any group that's produced.

American Japs I've got my doubts that our Japs are disloyal to any extent. I've had numerous contacts with 'em in Hawaii and on our Pacific coast. At home they've got a nutty group, but I'm skeptical that its philosophy is spread to this side of the Pacific.

Germany perhaps to a slight degree has dug in.

Is that it?

It wasn't in the Atlantic Charter. It hasn't been mentioned anywhere as one of our objectives.

How about it? Is it one of the unwritten rules of this war?

LOOKING AT LIFE

—By Erich Brandeis

Even a veal cutlet can start a war!

You don't believe it?

Well, here it is. Chester Towne, a dancer, and his companion, a lovely blonde, walked into a New York restaurant and ordered veal cutlet a la Milanes.

When the order arrived, Towne inspected it and asked: "Where are the tomatoes?"

"Oh, no," replied the waiter, "never no tomatoes on veal cutlet a la Milanes."

An argument followed. The waiter called the proprietor.

The proprietor, whose name, by the way, is Pacific (which has something to do with peace), took the waiter's part.

Then the war began. The dancer, it is alleged, threw the cutlet to the floor, punched Pacific in the nose, fracturing same and dashed out.

Pacific and several patrons rushed after him, called a cop and the whole thing wound up in the police station.

Both men filed charges. The blonde disappeared and the case is pending trial.

So you see how easy it is to start a war.

And it seems that there isn't much use in talking about ending wars or about civilization or about eternal peace.

Almost every day you see little boys on every city's streets pummeling the tar out of each other. There isn't a court in this land that doesn't have its daily quota of assault-and-battery cases.

Husbands and wives fight. Brothers and sisters fight. Business associates fight.

And as long as man is willing to fight over a veal cutlet he'll certainly fight over things that are much more important.

Civilization can never do away with man's instinct to fight, but it can and will, some distant day, find a substitute for force.

A GREAT NEWSPAPERMAN A Californian by the name of Oliver Carlson who lives in Burbank, has a weakness for newspapers. He has written several biographies of picturesque characters in the newspaper world and is now writing one concerning James Gordon Bennett.

Incidentally, he asserts that the first newspaper in this country was published in 1822. It was to be a monthly report of occurrences but threatened that if there should be such a "glut" of occurrences as to warrant extra issues, they might be published from time to time. The idea that the public had a right to know what was going on did not appeal to the Colonial Governor and the publication was suppressed after its first issue and no other newspaper was published in this country for fifteen years.

It took a century of struggle to bring about anything like freedom of the press. Even Alexander Hamilton argued against that paragraph in the Bill of Rights, he saw no need of it. However, the first Amendment to the Constitution guaranteed the freedom of the press.

News And Views From Pennsylvania Capital

HARRISBURG, July 21.—At least one cabinet official is going back to his first love when Governor James leaves office next January. "I'm going back to my newspaper when my job here is done," said Secretary of Welfare E. Arthur Sweeney. The James cabinet official is the publisher of the Greensburg Tribune. He is a member of the International Typographical Union. Sweeney, a popular figure on Capitol Hill, has been with Governor James since the advent of his administration in 1939.

Governor James has cast a dampener on rumors that a general pay increase will be given the 26,000 state employees. A published report had it that a Republican state chairman M. Harvey Taylor had conferred with the chief executive about raising the employees' pay from the basic $1080 a year they now receive to $1200. The governor said Taylor had never mentioned the matter to him. "I never heard of it," he stated.

A demonstration of how to handle tear gas backed up on a group of air raid wardens from the state capitol while it was taking place at the state police barracks. A sudden shift in the wind blew the gases into their faces, bringing tears. Earlier, the wardens almost burned down a wheat field while exhibiting magnesium flares.

Pennsylvanians in the armed forces are exhibiting a lack of interest in elections, to put it mildly. The records of the state election bureau show that only 1,362 soldiers from 47 of the 67 counties took advantage of the absentee ballot law and voted in the May 19 primary election. There were thousands more who were able to vote, but who apparently lacked interest. A revision of the absentee ballot law by the 1942 special session of the legislature makes it a simple matter for a soldier to vote now, provided he is in the United States. The law provides that absentee voters must mail in their ballots not more than 50 days nor less than 30 days before election. Politicians figure there will not be many votes from Australia cast in the November election.

Rep. Kenneth G. Haines, of Rebersburg, Centre county, is now in the Navy. Haines, a Republican, has been commissioned a lieutenant (senior grade) in the reserves and is now on active duty. He has notified the speaker's office that he will resign from the house. There are now five assemblymen and one senator in the armed forces.

Those are the guys that Attorney General Biddle is trailing.

But he doesn't want to do it to an extent that'll make a chap suspected merely because his name's Einstein or has an "ach" in its end. The poor Japs are a darned sight worse off.

Suppose your name was Kawakami?—born here?—never in Japan?—a 100 per cent American? And suppose the name, Kawakami, barred you from fighting on the side you wanted to fight on.

You might say the same thing about Yun-fang Lien, the Chinaman.

Names are immaterial. Germans and all sorts of 'em. That's what Attorney General Biddle is crusading for.

Major Role For U.S. Subs Indicated In Aleutians

By WILLIAM THEIS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 21.—A major role for American submarines in the continuing battle for the Aleutians today as military and naval authorities grimly awaited further reports from the North Pacific theater of war.

Whether Japanese forces wheel against Russian Siberia in the next few weeks or attempt to extend their Aleutian invasion in an alternative drive for Dutch Harbor and the Alaskan mainland, United States subs may be expected to have more than their normal share of combat action, it was pointed out.

Significantly, foul weather which hampers air activity against the Japs now on Kiska, Attu and Agatu islands works to the advantage of submarine operations.

U. S. subs already have been responsible for three of the four Jap ships confirmed as sunk since the Japanese struck at Dutch Harbor on June 3. Three of these were destroyers. And subs have been given credit for five of the total 13 Jap vessels sunk or damaged in naval-directed operations in the Aleutians to date.

Good Sub Areas

In normal naval warfare, as reflected in the Coral Sea and Midway battles, the dominant role goes to carrier and land-based planes. Slower-moving U-boats, forced to remain submerged under clear daylight conditions, perform primarily as screening and observation units.

In the Aleutians, where poor visibility and low ceilings from fog and mist prevail, sub commanders find a "happy hunting ground," observers explained.

Evidence of this was seen in the official communiqué of July 8, reporting that an American sub had torpedoed and believed to have sunk a Jap destroyer in the vicinity of Kiska on July 5. The communiqué pointedly stated the attack was made "on the afternoon" of July 5th. The communiqué further cited "low visibility" in the area.

On July 4, the day before, American subs torpedoed four Jap destroyers, sinking three and leaving one "burning fiercely." Throughout this period, as borne out in the

Will Clamp Down On Fast Drivers

Truckers' Association Determined To Stop Waste Of Rubber And Parts

Truck drivers who insist upon speeding, cowboy stops, and general recklessness are going to find themselves highly unpopular with the companies owning the trucks. At the dinner meeting of the Lawrence county chapter, Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association held Monday night in The Castleton hotel, more safety on the highways was urged.

"Drivers are going too fast upon the highways," declared President Al Bauman, Jr. Down on Route 51 there has been eight serious accidents in six days with fourteen lives lost. Naturally a lot of good equipment was lost too."

The members pledged themselves towards a campaign of prevention for as one member put it, "the driver who loses a truck through carelessness not only has cut down the carrying possibilities but he has probably cost himself a job, and the truck owner a lot of money."

A nominating committee was appointed by President Bauman to prepare a list of nominees for the August meeting when an election will be held.

The chapter also pledged co-operation to the city council's plan of truck usage in time of bombing raids. Councilman James Gibson was present and explained the plan.

Reports That State Eyes Trailer Camps At Defense Plants

Dr. Eckles, Health Chief, Tells Lions Of Control Measures

Public health problems posed by the rapid development of trailer camp communities in many defense areas in Pennsylvania were reviewed this noon before the Lions club in The Castleton by Dr. Donald P. Eckles, district medical director of the state here.

Dr. Eckles said Lawrence county thus far is free of any such situation, but he said Mercer and Crawford counties will probably face the problem soon.

The club was told that tourist camps and like locations along highways, and those near war plants, are receiving closer supervision by the state.

In Crawford county, he said, the county commissioners and county zoning body have collaborated to establish standards for trailer camps and like communities.

Dr. Eckles' office here supervises the public health control of Lawrence, Beaver, and Butler counties.

Tifereth Israel To Observe Fast Day

Wednesday Evening At Sunset Ushers In Fast Day Observance For Jewry

Wednesday evening at sunset, the Fast Day of the Ninth Day of the month of Ab, will be ushered in, to be observed by Jewry the world over.

This day is being observed in commemoration of the destruction of the Temple at Jerusalem by the Romans, and hence it is a day of sadness.

The fast day will be observed by fasting and lamentation, and by abstaining from the use of food and drink for 24 hours.

Services at the Tifereth Israel synagogue will start at 8:30 o'clock Wednesday evening, and the Book of Lamentation will be read. Thursday morning at 7 o'clock, prayers will be heard of a sad nature and the history of the destruction of the Temple will be read.

Prayers will be given for the present sadness of the world, and prayers for complete victory and peace. Thursday afternoon, services will commence at 5 o'clock, and Rabbi Gilbert A. Elefant, will have charge.

Three Are Held On Cruelty Charges In Home In Georgia

(International News Service)

ATLANTA, Ga., July 21.—A father, mother and 16-year-old were held in DeKalb County jail today on charges of cruelty to children after officers said they found three smaller children, ranging in age from 7 to 12, chained together in the hot sun.

Held in lieu of $5,000 bond were Mr. and Mrs. Archer R. Burney. Held without bond on the same charge was Elvin Burney, 16, the family's oldest son.

The three children were found chained together by a 32 foot 12½ pound log chain.

Police said the elder Burney admitted the act and quoted him as saying that he "didn't like to keep on whipping 'em, so this is the method I used to punish them."

Burney told authorities that one of the children—he didn't know which one—took "20 or 25 cents in old coins" from a pocketbook in the house, and it was for this that they were punished.

"None of 'em would admit taking the money, so I put 'em out there and told 'em to own up which one did it 'fore I got back."

Every army needs two leaders: one smart schemer to plan victory; one ruthless killer to keep after the enemy till the last man is finished.

Auxiliary Post Office In Readiness If Bombs Strike Main Building

A large downtown building has been established as an "emergency post office" for any bombing attack here, Postmaster William R. Hanna said today. He did not reveal its location.

He said every New Castle post office employee will again report to the post office for air raid duty during Wednesday night's half-hour blackout.

A postal regulation requires that the entire organization hurry to the Public Square building to be ready for any serious emergency in a bombing. In the first practice the force was on duty throughout the evening.

Employees Have Their Posts
Postmaster Hanna said a first aid group will set up its equipment, roof watchers will take their stations and air raid shelter men will take command of the basement retreat.

The postmaster will send out the alarm by telephone to his organization through a six-man relay corps. Civilian defense officials will notify Hanna promptly when the "yellow alert" signal is given. Hanna will notify his key callers and the six will summon the force of 90 by telephone.

Hanna said that carefully drawn preparations for any actual bombing attack will give postal equipment—the mails and the building—the best protection possible.

Fire Police On Post Duty For 'Blackout'

New Castle Fire Police are to report promptly at 8:30 o'clock at their respective stations on the night of the blackout, Wednesday, July 22, in their districts.

All active members are expected to be on hand in due time at their posts for the blackout, and will remain on duty until after it is over.

The local organization, one of long existence, co-operates with the city fire departments in emergencies.

Gas Price War Can't Be Stopped

Price Administration Declares It Is Powerless To Prevent Price War

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, July 20.—The price administration today declared it was powerless to prevent a gasoline price war which leading oil dealers believe is in prospect as a result of the new gasoline rationing program which goes into effect tomorrow.

Representatives of various independent filling stations on the eastern seaboard were told by the O.P.A. that protection against possible price-cutting competition will have to be sought from congress.

Under the new gasoline regulations as defined by O.P.A. stations will be able to get supplies in accordance with the number of coupons that have been turned in by motorists. This means, according to officials, that there will be a scramble for business and a maximum number of coupons during the early days of the new rationing program.

These officials fear that the competition for a maximum number of coupons will lead to a widespread price cut, perhaps even more severe than price wars which raged in many sections throughout the east last summer.

Although Price Administrator Leon Henderson told the filling station operators that they would have to look to congress for any action blocking the threatened price war, it appeared that there was little immediate prospect of aid from that quarter.

Members of the Truman investigating committee said that no action would be taken for at least several weeks in order to study the price situation under the new rationing program. Decision as to whether the committee will take any action will depend upon the seriousness of disruption in marketing conditions should a price war develop, these members declared.

Prospects that eastern gasoline dealers are facing the "zero hour" in a major price battle were confirmed by Harry Wainwright, secretary of the Washington Retail Dealers association.

Can You Can?

By

MISS ANNA MARIE QUINN
Home Economics Extension Worker,
Lawrence County Agricultural Extension Association.

Attention, homemakers—and anyone else who is planning to can fruit while the summer harvests are ripe! This is the season for peaches and the crop is a good one. In fact, peaches are the "Victory Food Special" from July 16 to August 5.

For those of you who plan to "put up" some of this fruit for future meals, here are tips on how to do it through the hot-pack method, a good and safe way to can peaches.

GETTING THEM READY
Wash peaches in cold water, but do not soak them.

Remove the skins. Par thin to save all the fruit you can.

If the skins are hard to take off, put the peaches in hot water for about a half-minute or until the skins will slip easily. Then duck the fruit in cold water for a few seconds before removing the skins.

Peaches may turn brown, as a result of their hot water plunge. To help prevent this, you can dip them in a solution of salt, vinegar and water for about two minutes after removing the skins. Use two tablespoons each of salt and vinegar to a gallon of cold water.

Can Fruit In Its Own Juice
Canning fruit in its own juice is a good way to hold in its flavor and food value.

First, cut the peaches in slices. You can get more fruit in the jar when peaches are sliced—an important point in view of the shortage of containers and rubber for canning purposes.

Put the sliced fruit in a kettle and add sugar. This is the most economical way to use your canning allotment of sugar. By putting sugar directly on the peaches, you help draw out the juice, waste no sweetening.

Let the sugar stand on the sliced fruit a few moments before heating it, to start the juice flowing.

Then put the kettle on the stove and heat the peaches slowly until the sugar has dissolved and the fruit is hot throughout. But be sure not to cook the peaches until they are soft.

Pack and Process
Pack the hot fruit and its juice in clean, hot, sterilized jars. Fill each jar to within an inch of the top and pack the fruit firmly but not too tight.

Process the jars of peaches in a boiling water bath. You can rig up such a water-bath canner from a large kettle or a wash boiler, and any vessel with a tight cover, and big enough to hold several jars and allow for covering them with 1 to 2 inches of water. Fit the canner with a rack to hold the jars off the bottom.

Have water in the canner boiling before you put in the jars of fruit. Place the jars on the rack, leaving enough room for water to circulate freely around and under each one.

Make sure the water comes over the jar tops at least 1 or 2 inches, and keep it that way throughout processing.

Put the top on the canner and start counting processing time as soon as the water begins to boil hard.

Process peaches, whether in quart or pint jars, for 25 minutes.

When the fruit is processed, remove the jars from the canner and set them right-side-up to cool.

After the fruit has cooled, test each jar by turning it upside down for a few minutes to be sure it is airtight and doesn't leak.

Canning Peaches By Halves
To can peaches in halves, make a light syrup using the proportion of 5 cups of sugar to a gallon of water.

Bring the sirup to a boil, and then drop in the peaches, peeled, pitted and halved.

When the peaches are thoroughly heated, pack them into jars with the sirup.

Process in the boiling water bath as described for sliced peaches.

If you like, in making the sirup, use honey or corn sirup in place of part of the sugar. Use equal parts of honey and sugar. With corn sirup, use two-thirds sugar and one-third corn sirup.

WOMEN MORE PREJUDICED
Women have many more personal prejudices and a greater tendency to make excuses than men, says Dr. Clifford R. Adams of Pennsylvania State college.

Prisoners Get Food Packages

Checkup Reveals That War Prisoners And Internees Get Red Cross Packages

DISTRIBUTION IS DESCRIBED

Evidence that all parcels sent to American Internees and Prisoners of War in Germany are being properly received was presented to the National Red Cross by Jean N. DeWattville, Managing Director of the Relief Department of the International Red Cross Committee, Geneva, Switzerland.

This information was given to Miss Fulton, Executive Director of the Lawrence Co. Chapter Home Service Department whose department has been handling a great many requests for this service.

"At present supplies for Prisoners of War and Internees of Europe are carried from America to Lisbon on neutral boats and an International Red Cross delegate in Lisbon receives the packages and supervises their shipment to Geneva," so stated Miss Fulton.

In the report given by Mr. DeWattville he described the distribution of parcels in Germany by saying "packages are assigned to camp leaders, himself a prisoner elected by prisoners and internees who sign a receipt in triplicate, he signs one and return two to Geneva."

Three or four times a year three delegates of the committee visit the prison camp. One confines himself to questions dealing with sanitary and health conditions while the other checks distribution of food supplies and comfort articles among prisoners.

"When the delegate inspects the camp, the Geneva receipts are compared carefully by that retained by camp leader to see they compare. The delegates talk to individual prisoners checking on receipts of parcels. In the millions of parcels handled, Mr. DeWattville continues, "We have never found any serious discrepancies in these receipts."

The American Red Cross has sent almost half a million food packages for prisoners of war held in Europe. American Prisoners of War and civilian internees in Europe receive one package weekly from the Geneva supply. Former internees who returned recently on S. S. Drottengholm spoke enthusiastically of the great help the Red Cross parcels had been in supplementing the rations of the prison camps.

British Plan To Attack Rommel

Strong American Air Forces To Take Part In Egyptian Offensive

REINFORCEMENTS ARE BROUGHT UP

International News Service By KINGSBURY SMITH International News Service

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Diplomatic sources in Washington believe the British Imperial armies in Egypt, supported by strong American Air Forces, will soon launch a powerful counterattack designed to drive the Axis legions of General Field Marshal Erwin Rommel back to the Libyan border.

While the British battle to hold the present defense line at El Alamein, tanks, anti-tank guns, planes, troops and other supplies are being rushed to the Egyptian front in preparation for the drive to eliminate Rommel's threat to Alexandria.

May Drive Rommel Back If the Axis armies can be prevented from breaking through the El Alamein defense line while supplies are being massed for the major counter-offensive, it is believed in diplomatic circles that the British-American forces may be able to drive Rommel back to the Libyan border.

The necessity for driving Rommel back beyond Matruh, at least, is considered to be urgent. As long as the Axis forces remain in control of Matruh, Alexandria will continue to be in grave danger.

Therefore, it is thought the British will launch their major counter-attack as soon as they feel they have enough supplies massed to carry them as far as the Libyan border.

Tanks and planes are understood to be the main weapon which the British require for their offensive strike. Loss of more than 200 tanks in the Libyan defeat left the British woefully weak in this decisive weapon of desert warfare.

American Lee and General Grant tanks are expected to play an important role in the counter-offensive. Other American supplies originally sent to India also are believed to be en route to Egypt. Meanwhile, the U. S. Army Air Forces which already are operating in Egypt under command of Maj. Gen. Lewis H. Brereton are expected to intensify their attacks against the Axis positions along the North African coast in an effort to help the British hold Rommel in check until sufficient forces have been massed to launch full-scale counter-attacks.

Steady reinforcements of Gen. Brereton's American Liberators and Flying Fortresses is foreseen. In fact, the division of American planes to North Africa is believed in some Washington diplomatic quarters to be responsible for the delay in the opening of the promised U. S. aerial offensive against Germany in western Europe.

There is complete unanimity among all United Nations representatives in Washington that the Middle East must be held at all cost, and it is evident that every practical implement of war that can be spared from the Near East, India and even further away is being rushed to Egypt.

Certification Ends For Food Stamp Plan

Today the Lawrence county Board of Assistance Office completed certification of about 1,800 eligibles for participation in the Federal Food Stamp Program and it is expected that assistance families will get their order cards soon, Director John Brinton said today.

The certification, which began about two weeks ago, proved to be a tremendous job with about 7 per cent of the certified families requiring complete investigation. It had to be finished today and though it meant a lot of extra work for the Board of Assistance workers, it was.

Mr. Brinton emphasized today that participation in the Food Stamp program besides being a boon to assistance families in that they got more to eat than ever before was also patriotic. "I mean patriotic because the surplus foods are the vitamin containing foods the government wants us all to eat."

Aged Man Rescued From 50-Foot Pit After 57 Hours Time

(International News Service) GREENSBURG, Pa., July 21.—Rested and refreshed, 82-year-old Frank Gould, of Pennsylvania, repeated the details today of 57 hours' imprisonment without food in the bottom of a 50-foot pit on the John Stauffer farm near here.

He was rescued shortly before dusk last night after searching Boy Scouts heard his call for help. He fell into the pit on Saturday, while on a berry-picking expedition. Despite the long hours in the mud at the bottom of the pit, he was able to walk home.

Gould said he used his tin berry bucket to catch water drippings from the rocks, his only nourishment over the weekend.

Steel Salvage Program Moves Into High Gear

(International News Service) COATESVILLE, Pa., July 21.—The nation-wide steel salvage campaign moved into high gear today following a statement by Lessing J. Rosenwald, chairman of the WPB bureau of industrial conservation, that it's "now up to you people."

Supreme Court Justice Owen J. Roberts warned that the people of this country were not yet aware of the danger that the United States might lose the war.

"But when they are made aware of the danger," the jurist said, "the people will do their share."

Rosenwald announced that some 12,000 salvage committees throughout the nation, with 150,000 workers, would direct the collection of the scrap during the next few weeks.

Mrs. Oveta Hobby Sees First WAACS

For WAAC Director It Is Culmination Of Months Of Hoping And Working

(International News Service) DES MOINES, Ia., July 21.—Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, 37, director of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps, on Monday saw for the first time that which she has worked long months to create in this total war—the WAAC program in operation.

Although she arrived in Des Moines by train last night, Mrs. Hobby was given her initial look at the post this morning by Col. Don C. Faith, commandant.

Cool weather greeted the girls as they arrived at about five-minute intervals with their grips, luggage and some with tennis rackets.

Purely paper work to Director Hobby since the WAAC program was passed by congress, the women's army. Mrs. Hobby declared, has now become an arm of America at war.

Said the WAAC director: "I am convinced there are no women who will fail the standard of the corps. They will do a serious job and will do it as well as the British women have done in England's armed forces."

She expressed admiration of the "beautiful Fort Des Moines post" and said she would "like to stay here and go to school."

Mrs. Hobby said she would not address the WAAC today because it would interrupt their processing. But later in the week the 800 WAAC officers candidates and auxiliaries will hear an address by their chief.

Mrs. Hobby held a press conference alongside one of the post's red brick barracks. WAACS, newly-arrived and checked in at their quarters crowded to the windows and balconies to get a first glimpse of their director.

Col. Don C. Faith, commandant, accompanied Mrs. Hobby on a brief tour of the post early in the morning, and during the day she saw more of the buildings, lunched with the WAACS in the noon mess and conferred with the faculty.

Walter C. Pew, Jr. And Bride Are On Honeymoon

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, July 21.—Walter C. Pew, Jr., and his gas station cinderella, Sophie Boychuck, were honeymooning today after a sudden, four-minute ceremony before Justice of the Peace Frank C. Kromer at Cynwyd.

The bride wore a large white straw hat with a veil, a light blue dress and white-heeled sandals. She carried a white handbag, but no flowers. Present at the wedding were Sophie's younger sister, a friend of young Pew and Mrs. Kromer.

Pew's father, general manager of the Sun Oil company, is serving as a major in the ordnance department in Washington.

Kromer said both of the participants in the ceremony appeared nervous and that young Pew explained: "I'm pretty exhausted running away from reporters the last couple of days."

Kromer said the young couple told him they were going to take a wedding trip, but did not say where.

BRIDGE NEEDS ATTENTION
The attention of the county commissioners has been called to the Grant street bridge in the past few weeks. The bridge needs some repairs and paint. Under a recent act passed by the general assembly the state highway department takes over the maintenance of bridges on state highways in third class cities. The department has already been notified.

Another bridge that will need some major repairs shortly is the South Mill street bridge over the Neshannock Creek. This is a county bridge and will be repaired by the commissioners. The wooden block deck of the bridge has never been satisfactory in wet weather and some other form will be used. Were it not for steel priorities, the grid steel deck would be used.

The grid steel deck is on the Cherry street bridge which was recently turned over to the county as having been repaired satisfactorily. The new type steel deck lets water and snow drop through to the creek bed below and thus avoid a traffic hazard.

Commercial Airlines Will Soon Operate Army Planes

Will Carry Vital Supplies To Army

Planes Will Be Allotted To Commercial Lines For New Service

TO MAKE USE OF TRAINED PILOTS

By HUGO SPECK
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Disclosure that commercial airlines will operate "substantial numbers" of Army planes is regarded in military circles today as one of the most important developments since start of the war towards solving the problem of getting vital supplies to America's far-flung fighting forces overseas.

Brig. Gen. Harold L. George, commander of the Air Transport Command, announced that beginning in August, eight of this nation's largest commercial airlines will begin operating transport planes assigned to them by Army Air Forces over the routes now established.

Further, the air lines will be allotted all the planes they can absorb through December in the Air Transport Command's determination to put every available plane to work towards winning the war.

Just how many planes the airlines can absorb on their international lines is not known and how many they will be immediately assigned is a military secret. But with the vast world-wide organizations they possess and with the huge pool of potential commercial pilots at their disposal, it is understood what stupendous possibilities this decision makes possible.

Tremendous Undertaking

"This is the beginning of a tremendous undertaking," Gen. George stated. "For transport airplanes must be flown by competent and capable men. But it can be done without tapping the available military resources so the airlines were called in. The only limitations of what they can do will be their capacity to take on planes and operate them.

"But when the airlines say they can't go any further then the military will have to take over but I hope that time will never come.

"Routes over the world to be flown by the various airlines will be prescribed by the Air Transport Command, and the operation over these routes will be under the direction of the command. The Army is not going to take over the airlines but will expect them to operate under the Air Transport Command.

Our personnel will control the operations but the airlines will operate as separate independent entities.

"We're asking them to take the airplanes which we produce and operate them over the routes they have established. The lines will have to set up some system to find ways and means of getting pilots but as we are doing today in airplane production what no man thought possible two years ago I believe the airlines will show the same capacity to expand."

While military experts do not expect the stupendous expansion of air transport which is bound to follow this decision to make up for all of the shortcomings of the merchant fleet it is hailed as the best possible solution with unforeseen possibilities.

Especially will it serve as a strengthening arm to American and all United Nations troops serving overseas for all priority materials which it would take weeks and even months to deliver by ships.

Report Son Born To Commoner Wife Of Belgian King

(International News Service)
LONDON, July 21.—A son was born to the commoner wife of Leopold III king of Belgium, the Daily Mail declared today, quoting the Berlin radio. The child born Saturday, was named Alexander Emmanuel Henry Albert Maria Leopold.

King Leopold has three children by Queen Astrid who was killed in an automobile accident in 1935. Last September he married Mary Lelia Baels, daughter of a former minister in the Belgian cabinet.

Although the Berlin radio referred to her as the "Queen of Belgium" in announcing the birth of her son, she was reported to have taken the title of Princess of Rethy at the time of her marriage to Leopold and to have signed a renunciation of any claims to the throne on behalf of any children born of her marriage to Leopold.

Since his surrender to the Germans Leopold has been living at his chateau at Laeken near Brussels.

Suit Is Filed By Seaman On Torpedoed Boat

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, July 21.—Believed to be the first suit of its kind filed in World War II, a seaman from a torpedoed tanker today sought $55,000 from the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey for injuries, claiming that the vessel was sunk "solely by reason of negligence of the respondent."

Among other things, Randolph H. Larson claims the company failed to follow safety rules and sea lanes prescribed to avoid enemy attack; permitted the vessel to proceed with running lights on, and did not zig-zag as prescribed by rule.

Larson said he was at the wheel of the vessel when it was torpedoed off the Atlantic coast last January 18. The second torpedo blew him into the water, and he was bitten by a shark before being rescued, his claim stated.

Twenty-two men lost their lives and 13 were saved when the tanker went down.

Governor Urges Rubber Saving

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, July 21.—Pennsylvanians of all ages and walks of life were implored by Gov. Arthur H. James today to do all they can to save rubber and to conserve transportation facilities.

The governor's plea for cooperation in the war effort was made in the foreword of a manual on wartime transportation distributed by the state to workers, business and industry.

"Severe economy of our means of transportation is now a vital necessity," emphasized Governor James. "Here is one part of the great effort of our nation in which every man, woman and child may definitely contribute his help toward a speedy and decisive victory."

Ninety-three local war transportation committees are functioning in the state in the interest of staggered hours, ride-swapping, tire-saving and walk-when-possible campaigns.

Expect Thousands At Taggart Field Tonight

Patriotic Pageant, Boxing, Miniature Air Raid To Thrill Spectators

FUNDS TO PURCHASE OGD EQUIPMENT

Thousands of men, women and children are expected to wend their way into Taggart stadium tonight where they will witness a patriotic pageant, amateur boxing, an air raid and bomb-fighting demonstration for the benefit of funds for OGD equipment. Action will begin promptly at 8:30 p. m.

Committees reported to General Chairman W. J. Connery at the American Legion Monday and indications point to one of the most enjoyable nights of the summer.

Soldiers, sailors and marines will head the American Legion band up the beautiful greenward and the vast audience will be led by Red Williams in singing the National anthem.

After the colors are lowered for the night, boxers will spring into action. Arrangements have been made whereby four ex-champions, Senator Johnny Kilbane, Fritz Zivic, Ted Yarosz and George Chip will guest referee.

Some time during the night when the signal comes that "the enemy is approaching" the light will flash and the bomb-fighters will prepare to combat the attacker.

All lights in the stadium will be extinguished — in other words, an actual black-out will occur there, excepting where a street has been built on the gridiron. It will be illuminated. When the plane soars over the pilot will see the lights and then bombs will burst. They will be touched off by OGD ground forces.

While the OGD group is battling the flame, the main at the "mike" will instruct the crowd just how to fight a bomb and flames. No doubt the display will be one of the most spectacular ever seen here.

Between bombs war bonds will be presented, likewise recognition to the various OGD groups.

The purpose of the show tonight is to raise money with which to purchase equipment to fight actual raiders. After all, it can happen here! And New Castle should prepare to beat off Axis raiders.

The first fight will go on at 8:30 p. m.

Managers Decide To Secure Own Officials; Umps Want Additional 50 Cents

City baseball league managers and members of the Lawrence County Umpires' association have come to the parting of ways.

President Mike Donovan and Secretary "Jake" Bobovsky today said that the eight managers Monday night voted against the 50-cent pay boost desired by the association.

While the crowds have been unusually large throughout the season, the receipts are way down, it was pointed out. In view of this, the officials voted unanimously in favor of selecting their own ump.

The home team will be responsible for securing the ump behind the plate.

Unless an arrangement is made soon, that's the way the second half race will be conducted, so far as the ump's are concerned.

At the start of the season, the league accepted the fees forwarded by the umpires. The week night pay was $2.00; Sunday $2.50. The ump's want $3.00 for week night games.

Among prominent present: Fire Chief R. L. Young, Youngstown; Sheet and Tube Company, expert bomb fighter.

Proclivities end about 11 p. m. Come early, avoid rush, drive carefully.

Sixty-Four To Qualify For Title Amateur Round; O'Shanter Meet Wednesday

By H. C. WARREN
(International News Service)

CHICAGO, July 21—Two hundred and nine golfers representing one of the most brilliant fields of amateurs ever assembled started off today in pursuit of Johnny Lehman of Chicago in the second 18-hole qualifying round of the All-American amateur tournament at the Tam O'Shanter Club.

Lehman, 35-year-old insurance man who formerly held the Big Ten, western amateur and Chicago district championship titles, was the only one in the original field of 235 able to break par in the first qualifying round yesterday.

When it is considered that this field boasted such noted amateurs as Corp. Bud Ward, national amateur champion, Corp. Pat Abbott, western amateur champion, Frank Stranahan, 19-year-old Toledo, O., "Strong Boy," and Ohio amateur champion, and Johnny Goodman of Omaha, former national open and amateur titleholder, Lehman's feat is all the more impressive.

At the completion of today's play 64 will have qualified for the championship amateur round and the golfers who fail to negotiate the championship flight will become eligible to qualify for the $15,000 Tam O'Shanter open qualifying round which gets under way tomorrow.

City Loop Foes To Play Tonight

Active again following an unforeseen delay, City Baseball league rivals match shots again tonight as the second half race continues on its merry way.

Four star-studded battles grace the bill, pairing the Moose and Bessemer on Bessemer high field; West Pittsburgh and the Lawrence Indies on Cedar street grounds; Croton and the Elder A. C. on the Slova's field, Scott street, and the Slova's and Ellwood City on Ewing Park field, Ellwood City.

Croton West Pittsburgh, Bessemer and the Moose forged ahead in Sunday's openers. The quartet takes the diamond confident of keeping in the V line.

Jim Versatile; Ready To "Ref"

JIMMIE DUNN

Here's Jimmie Dunn, former New Castle fighter who went to Cleveland, discovered Johnny Kilbane, moulded him into a champion and had Jackie Wilson, welterweight, strutted toward the 147-pound crown when Uncle Sam called Jackie to the colors. During Dunn's fight days, he fought Abe Attel, Harlem, Tommy Murphy, Freddy Welsh and other great fighters.

Dunn is without a doubt the best boxing tutor in the world. This is putting it strong but results justify the statement. He taught Otto Kohler, Kid Wolf, Bryan Downey, Carl Tremaine in addition to Kilbane.

He is directing fighters in California at present but hopes soon to return to Cleveland or New Castle.

STANDARDS BATTLE COLUMBUS TONIGHT

Standard Steel Bombardiers battle the Columbus softball team on Mahoning field tonight.

MANY PARTICIPANTS

NOTRE DAME—No fewer than 1,250 of 1,846 enrolled in the Notre Dame summer semester are participating in wartime, eight-sport interhall program.

Scribbled in 90 degrees temperature:

Lawrence county's exclusive hole-in-one organization make room for J. W. Frew. Ignoring Sunday's sweltering blitz, Frew canned his drive on the 135-yard No. 13 hole on the New Castle Field club course. Jack McIlwraith, Joe Green and Jack Miller were chasing par with Frew.

Paul "Lefty" Minner, now chucking for Elizabethon of the Appalachian league, will be 19 on Thursday, July 30. Staff Sergeant John L. Dean, U. S. Marine recruiter, has fully recovered after being stalled by a sprained ankle suffered while playing ball.

Back on his feet again after undergoing an appendicitis operation, Romeo Pacelli, one of the most talented mittmen in the fistie annals of New Castle, says he plans to re-enter the beak busting industry—as a manager.

Miss Leah Davis, who views the sports pages with more than passing interest, thinks that "major league ball players are simply grand." Enroute home following a vacation in Atlanta, Ga., the winner of a Norwood avenue young lady Friday boarded a Pittsburgh bound train in Cincinnati.

Manager Casey Stengel and his Boston Braves were on the same train headed for the week-end series with Pittsburgh. Miss Davis not only secured autographs of all

KEEP CHASING PAR

Bukowski, Sammy Bullano and H. Schuster paced the Johnson-Bronze day turn golf leaguers when the par-chasers toured Castle Hills.

Hazards won over the Pars, 5-0 and the Eagles and Mashies were tied 2½ points apiece.

Standings: Hazards 8, Eagles 5½, Mashies 4½ and Pars 1.

Rosar Fined $250; Returns To Yanks

(International News Service)

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 21—Catcher Buddy Rosar plans to rejoin his New York Yankee teammates in Cleveland tonight after manager Joe McCarthy announced that he had fined Rosar $250 for leaving the club without permission to return to his Buffalo home to take police department examinations.

Rosar, daddy of a 8½ pound baby boy, born yesterday, insisted he had given his boss adequate notice that he was coming to Buffalo, but conceded that McCarthy had not consented to his leaving New York and had even threatened him with suspension. McCarthy said Buddy had not mentioned he expected the new arrival, his second child.

When Rosar left the club Saturday the Yanks were faced with a Sunday doubleheader with the Chicago White Sox and McCarthy, having no experienced backup to fill in for the ailing Bill Dickey, at once signed the veteran Rollie Hemsley. Hemsley had been unconditionally released by the Cincinnati Reds.

COAST STAR SHINES

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, July 21—Top-seeded Margaret Osborne of San Francisco today paced a field of 39 women net luminaries to the third round of the middle states championship with two dazzling victories at Philadelphia Cricket Club.

Upon learning that Miss Davis is a New Castleite, Stengel immediately asked about one of his most cherished protégés—Paul McCullough. Pilot Casey, who bossed the local pitcher in the American Association, was lavish in his praise of Paul, Miss Davis said.

Whirlaway, the boss that busted Seabiscuit's money earning record, asked about 1,050 pounds. Scribes acclaims about him "Long Tail" because the bushy rider measures 4 feet 9 inches. Thus far, 35 Big Ten coaches are in the armed forces.

A couple of idle thoughts:—Where would the St. Louis Cardinals be the standing today if Johnny Mize was still in their lineup? Is there anyone game enough to wager that Joe DiMaggio will not wind up in the 300 batting class by the time the season ends?

Ernie Bonham is not popular with pop and hot dog vendors. The Yankee pitcher ranks as the fastest twirler in the big show. His rapid offerings cut down the time fans have to spend in the park and, at the same time, slash the sale of pop and doggies.

Reminder: Don't pass up tonight's fistie show at Taggart stadium. The take in will benefit all of us, particularly so if the Japs are yaps enough to try an invasion which could extend to Lawrence county.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

R. L. James, Illumination expert

Pennsylvania Power company, the line gang from Dutch Lankart's division and Rex Hughes, plus Johnny Jones, his assistant, have installed the lighting system above the ring at Taggart stadium. Chairman Bill Connery and the writer went out last night and viewed the illumination. It was good.

There will be no free admissions to tonight's spectacle. The OGD and committee decided that tonight is Everybody Pays Night. There will be no persons on the field except a few sport writers from other cities who have unlimited free space to our city's protect.

Tommy Jones and Phil Greer will referee. William Fazzino will man the watch. Bart Richards will announce. Major H. C. Harper will examine the fighters at 7 p. m. at the stadium. The fistie show will be under the jurisdiction of the State Athletic commission and A. A. U.

One Win Separates Moose From Crown

Rodenbaughmen Sidetrack Bessemer, 7-1; Play Again On Wednesday Night

One victory separates the Moose club from the first half championship of the City Baseball league.

While Ferrante hurled glossy six-hit ball, the Rodenbaughmen poked out eight hits to defeat Bessemer, 7-1 on Marshall field, Monday night, as the play-off series reached the shadow of the finish line.

By defeating the "Cementers" again Wednesday night on Marshall field, the Moose will gain the coveted bunting.

After moving along on even terms for three frames, the Moose drew first blood, punching across two runs. In the fifth, Smiley laced a homer deep into left field with a mate on board, boosting the Moose's lead to 4-0. The winners grabbed three more unneeded markers in the seventh.

Hahn smashed a double for the Moose and Cole contributed two bingles. Johnson and Moores rapped doubles for the losers.

McNair Is Back With Philadelphia

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, July 21—After telling Clark Griffith of Washington's Senators that he wasn't going to play baseball any more, veteran shortstop Eric McNair was still in the game today following his sale from Detroit's Tigers back to the team and the old man who started him off, Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics.

McNair had been traded to the Senators last week but was returned to Detroit after his statement to Griffith.

He will probably be placed in the Athletic infield when the Mackmen open a series against the St. Louis Browns today.

Kovach Is Stripped Of Last Golf Crown

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 21—Steve Kovach, Brackenridge Heights amateur, was stripped of his last championship of the City Softball league.

He was stripped of the last of his three major titles yesterday when Julius W. Platte, of Baldo Hills, defeated him by two strokes for the West Penn open championship. Platte scored a par 72. Previously, Kovach lost his Pennsylvania amateur and West Penn best ball titles.

Lead To 6 1/2 Games

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, July 21.—Winners of nine straight and leading the American league by ten games, the New York Yankees begin another western invasion in Cleveland tonight.

After they conclude their three-game set with the Indians, the pacesetters will move on to other western points, then stop off at Washington en route home.

Meantime, the second place Boston Red Sox—like all of the other eastern clubs in the American league—also will be in the west battling to maintain their position against the crowding Indians, now just one game behind them.

Western Race
Hence for the next couple of weeks the American league race will be waged strictly in the west with the Indians sitting back and hoping to be able to knock over Yankees and Red Sox as fast as they show up.

While the Yanks were at Cleveland tonight, the Red Sox had an evening engagement at Chicago. Philadelphia played under lights at St. Louis and Washington met the Tigers at Detroit in an afternoon game.

All clubs in the circuit had a day off from the pennant race yesterday. The Yanks were high on themselves again with their lead growing after one brief stretch of floundering. They left the east certain that most of their troubles are over. They've got all their bad baseball out of their systems, they felt, and pointed to the current hitting of Joe DeMaggio to prove it. He has come out of his batting slump and is all set for the stretch run.

The catching problem which faced the club due to Bill Dickey's ailments and Puddy Rosar's AWOL seems to have straightened itself out. Rollie Hemleavy filled in nobly in Sunday's double-header, and Rosar is expected to be on hand for tonight's game in case he is needed. Meantime, Dickey is on the mend.

Dodgers Win
In the National league, the Brooklyn Dodgers increased their lead to 6 1/2 games last night by beating the Pittsburgh Pirates, 5 to 0, behind the five-hit hurling of Larry French and with the aid of a homer by Dolph Camilli. John Lanning was the losing pitcher.

That was the only game scheduled as the Dodgers returned from the west to meet a western invasion led by the Cincinnati Reds today.

"Rubber Cows" Ready To Bounce Enemy Flyers From Panama Air

Panama Balloon Barrage Called "Most Cantankerous Prima Donnas Imaginable"

Object Of Deadly Balloons Is To Keep Enemy Aircraft From Certain Areas

By RICHARD ARMSTRONG
SOMEWHERE IN THE CANAL ZONE July 21—They may be just a bunch of balloons tied in a length of cable to casual observers but to me they are a group of the most cantankerous, unpredictable, delicate prima donnas imaginable.

The man was speaking of the balloon barrage which rides day and night over the vital installations of the Panama Canal Zone. His words were those of irritation but the tone was one of genuine affection for the speaker, Lieutenant Colonel Horace S. Van Voast of Schenectady, N. Y., is keenly enthusiastic about his job as "nurse to a flock of rubber cows."

"Rubber cow" is a term applied not only to blimps but to this captive craft which, as the colonel explained it, "denies the area to enemy aircraft."

Began At Pear Harbor

The first barrage balloons inched their way tentatively into the tropical skies of Panama shortly after the Jap attack on Pearl Harbor. The installation was light and purely experimental for the British, who had enjoyed unusual success with such weapons in England, never had used them in the tropics, believing the difficulties to be insurmountable.

Since those early days, however, coast artillerymen have improvised, improved and invented gadgets to perfect their installation, until the balloons which sway over vital points here today are the densest barrage to be found anywhere on earth.

Their numbers, location and spacing are a military secret, even though they can be seen for miles around and are, without doubt, known to the enemy through their agents.

Nasty Surprise For Enemy

But while its existence is obvious to everyone, there are elements in the balloon barrage which cannot be determined from a distant view and a nasty surprise awaits any enemy flier who is willing to chance shearing his wings on the stout, almost invisible mooring cables.

The barrage balloons are a sixth weapon of the coast artillery in Panama under the command of Major General H. R. Oldfield. Any visiting Axis forces will have to contend with fixed seacoast guns, tractor-drawn heavy guns, anti-aircraft guns, railroad artillery and controlled mines.

Then there is another little arrangement to welcome low flying torpedo planes which has the self-explanatory name of the "killer net," an ingenious device which will mangle in satisfactory manner any such plane which gets near enough to its object for effective fire.

Full Credit Given English

"Of course, the efficiency of barrage balloon, like anti-aircraft fire, is not to be measured in the number of enemy planes destroyed, but in its efficiency of denying the area to the enemy above the objective," explained Lieutenant Colonel W. J. Wolfe of Boston, who is in charge of all of the balloon installations.

"Up to now," he continued, "we do not believe the enemy has perfected any means for entering such a barrage with impunity."

The colonel referred to the shearing knives which were found on enemy planes brought down in England.

All of the officers, while enthusiastically displaying the improvements effected here for the handling of balloons, gave full credit to the help they had received from English experiments and experiences.

Balloons Have Diverse Personalities

The advantage of the non-inflammable gas is obvious, they declared, because the time required to shoot down balloons was greater than any enemy aircraft could hope to spend over a defended area and hope to survive.

The majority of the improvements are of course secret. "It is amazing how each of these balloons, so apparently alike, develop their own personalities," Colonel Van Voast observed. "Most of them have been named by the members of the crews handling them."

Samples of some of their names: "Rosita," "Dumbo," "Mae West," "Gulliver," "Annie," "Long John Silver," and "Betsy." In the folds of "Betsy," a small rive bird has installed his family in a nest and they nonchalantly ride the big bag up and down for thousands of feet as the altitude of the barrage is varied.

"Balloons" Ready For Anything

The men in the balloon service

"YOU CAN'T BEAT this to relieve itchy soreness of ATHLETE'S FOOT"

so many druggists say

If you're discouraged about a stubborn, hard to relieve case of Athlete's Foot—just try "Extra Strength" Zemo. Wonderful soothing, highly medicated liquid Zemo (a Doctor's amazingly successful formula) promptly relieves itching soreness and gives the cracked, raw, peeling skin between toes a chance to heal faster. First trial convinces!

ZEMO "EXTRA STRENGTH"

are as enthusiastic as their officers. They have built first class quarters, dining halls and bomb shelters from salvaged material. Their machinery for raising and lowering the bags is tended constantly, kept spotless and working with the precision of a jeweled watch.

In addition to their balloon training—and they know knots and cordage like an expert seaman—they are trained as artillerymen and infantrymen, and are ready to take over these roles at a moment's notice.

Not only that, but they are so well trained that if any enemy advance flight should perform the incredible and apparently impossible feat of shooting down the entire barrage, they can start another into the air immediately.

"In fact," laughed Capt. Charles Murphy of Philadelphia, "these 'balloonatics' are pretty handy boys, as any prowler will soon find out."

Naval Officers Train For Quick Plane Identification

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, July 21—The navy announced that a class of twenty-five naval officers have started training at Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio, in the quick, accurate perception and identification of plane, ship and tank silhouettes.

Pointing out that the course is one of the most vital in the navy's aviation program, the navy said it was the most recent addition to its aviation training curriculum. The course stresses training in immediate recognition and correct identification of planes in an echelon, in a convoy or squadron, and tanks and guns in a line or file.

No Blackout In Flooded Counties

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, July 21—Flood-ravaged Potter, Elk and McKean counties were excused by the state defense council today from participating in the half-hour blackout to be conducted throughout Pennsylvania Wednesday night.

In all other counties, however, regulations calling for a complete blackout and air raid precautions will be enforced, the council pointed out.

EAST BROOK GRANGE PROGRAM, THURSDAY

A "conservation program" is planned for members of the East Brook Grange on Thursday evening beginning at 8 o'clock, it is announced today. Those taking part will include George Patterson, Margaret Bowden, Mrs. J. Robinson, Mrs. Sides and Helen Young.

Those planning to attend, will take with them their favorite games and tables, to round out the evening. Refreshments will be served at the close, by the committee in charge.

Twelve 1942 Fairs Cancelled In State

Cancellations Are Result Of Plea Of Defense Transportation Director

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, July 21—Twelve of Pennsylvania's, 88 fairs have cancelled their 1942 programs as a result of the war, the office of war information announced today.

Most of the cancellations were arranged in response to the plea of defense Transportation Director Joseph E. Eastman who last month, said farmer: should not be encouraged to use for such "unessential purposes as fairs, the tires which are so necessary to their livelihood and so necessary to provide a continuing food supply, nor should they transfer the burden to public carriers."

Fairs announcing cancellation of this year's program include the Allegheny County Fair, one of the largest in the nation and which annually attracts approximately 1,000,000 to Pittsburgh's South Park. Fair officials said the action was taken because "our industrial exhibitors, farmers and the general public will be too busy doing their part to win this war... That comes first. When it is over, we'll hold a victory fair."

Teacher Shortage Now Developing

(Special To The News)
MERCER, July 21—A shortage of teachers of "specialized" subjects in county schools is developing. Superintendent William M. Pollard said today.

Vacancies on high school faculties are occurring because of resignations of science, mathematics, music and physical education instructors, and replacements are becoming increasingly difficult to secure, Pollard said. Many of the "specialized" subject teaching posts are held by men and young women who are giving up teaching to accept employment in better paying war industries and to enter armed services, Pollard said.

The possibility of new war industries creating increased attendance problems has not developed to any extent so far, Pollard said.

It is expected that enrollment at schools near the Keystone Ordnance plant in the northern section of the county, and near the new military camp site, Pymatuning township, will be increased slightly when families of workers move in, but so far, present facilities will accommodate the increase, Pollard said.

Many of the new families are living in Greenville, Sharpsville and other valley communities.

BLACKOUT HALTS FIRST AID CLASS

Due to the blackout promised for Wednesday evening, the first aid class at Volant, taught by Mrs. Ann Castler, has been cancelled for this Wednesday evening.

The class will meet again for regular study on Wednesday evening, July 29, it is announced by the Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross.

Railway Express May Put Horses, Wagons In Wartime Service

The Railway Express Agency, operator of the greatest fleet of motor trucks in the nation, is exploring the possibility of substituting horses and wagons for its services, it was learned today.

N. P. Ballou, assistant to the president, said a nation-wide canvass of the problem is presenting angles that could not have been conceived of by its operating officials during the past year.

During World War I the company owned about 15,000 wagons and 20,000 horses. Of that great fleet but six wagons and three coaches reserved as museum pieces remain.

Complications disclosed in the survey show that only three manufacturers or horse collars now remain in the country and but one horseshoer remains on Manhattan Island.

Rotary Envoys Give Talks At Luncheon

Three Toronto Convention Reports Occupy Monday Noon Meeting

Three reports on the June convention of Rotary International in Toronto, Ont., were heard Monday by members of the Rotary club at their weekly luncheon in The Castleton.

Speakers were Dr. W. L. Beal, club president; J. Lee McPate, retiring governor of District 135, and Joseph R. McPate, Dr. Beal spoke about the convention in general, the retiring district chief on legislation and McPate's son on the reception tendered delegates.

Discussion of an inter-club resolution on war, due for formal consideration later, occupied part of the noon session.

AROUND CITY HALL

Solicitor Robert M. White Monday reported to council in meeting in city hall that the local electric street railway and Duntile companies have served the city with a bill of injunction in connection with the proposed removal of rails in city maintained streets. Arguments will be heard within the next few weeks.

According to White the city has refused a permit to the Duntile company to open city streets. They have ruled that the street railway company must take out the permit and abide by the method of refilling rail slots prescribed by the city.

The city indicated today it would not object to the removal of rails in South Beaver and Clayton streets but would insist that its terms be followed in the removal and repair of rails in Mill street, Cedar street and Mahoning avenue.

City Engineer J. Z. Street was authorized in council session held in the city building Monday to prepare plans and specifications for the paving of Sherman street by contract. Railroad companies have agreed to put their rails to grade. The request for the improvement was made by a local vital essential industry.

Recently city council voted to purchase a 1½ ton truck and a hydraulic shovel. In council meeting Monday at the city hall S. L. Lockley, city controller, asked an explanation, asserting that the bids were not the lowest that could be accepted. Council authorized the committee to reply to Lockley in writing.

P. R. R. on Monday notified council, in session in the city building, it had made application to the PUC for approval of a crossing at White and Neal streets to serve a client.

Council Monday referred to Solicitor Robert M. White a proposal that the city adopt an ordinance whereby property-owners who through error have not paid their tax in time can pay their taxes at cost plus probably interest alone from the date due until paid. In some cases people have unwittingly left the time period go by through error and then have had to pay a big penalty cost. If an ordinance is adopted to this effect, it was stated, all people will be treated alike and no one person will be favored and council cannot be surcharged.

Council met in city hall Monday and refunded to the Manufacturers Light & Heat company $78.00, which the company paid the city "as an estimate of cost" for repairing Highland avenue hill when the company excavated. The dirt was tamped and brick restored. However, the job was not satisfactory to the city to properly do it the cost will be several hundred dollars. Street Director James Gibson reported today.

Red Cross Chapter Obtains Dressings

Mrs. W. W. Duff, chairman of the surgical dressing committee of the local Red Cross chapter, announces that material for surgical dressings has arrived and can be obtained at the local chapter.

All Surgical Dressing Auxiliaries will meet as they have previously been scheduled, and work will continue.

Heretofore, excellent work has been accomplished by these auxiliaries, but due to the shortage of materials, the meetings were interrupted for a short time.
